NO MORE MESSENGERS FOR MOVIE FILMS.

Messengers for moving picture heatres can no longer carry their ilms to and from New York on the y coacnes of passenger trains according to a government regulation rearding explosives which is in effect oday. This regulation forbids the carrying of all sorts of explosives. The ighly compustible celluloid of which the films are made is included in the list despite the fact that these films are always carried in fire proof cases. The uncertainty of receiving films for the advertised exhibitions has led the managers of Bridgeport picture theatres to institute a messenger service from the agencies in New York, Usually the operator of the picture machine is the messenger receiving from $3 to
